

Jason
Romagni
Moore

Chicago, IL 60647
630.470.7386

jrmoore927@gmail.com
jmog27.github.io

Summary

Back-end web developer looking to transition into a more project-focused role that will leverage creativity while building upon a passion for learning what makes things work. Strong verbal and written communication and customer service skills. Adept at juggling multiple priorities.

Technical Skills

Web Development: HTML, CSS, Bootstrap, JavaScript, jQuery (standard and UI), Firebase (Realtime Database, Authentication), Node.js

Projects

Cup of Sugar (github.com/jmog27/CupOfSugar)

Full-stack service and goods trading app using Express, Node.js, Passport.js, MySQL, Sequelize, Handlebars, CSS, and jQuery.

Bamazon (github.com/jmog27/bamazon)

CLI inventory management app using Node.js and MySQL.

GifTastic (github.com/jmog27/GifTastic)

Created a gif-aggregate site using jQuery's AJAX calls to collect information from GIPHY's API.

Trivia Game (github.com/jmog27/Trivia-Game)

Harry Potter themed trivia game using jQuery and CSS.

Work Experience

Linguistics Department Administrator: University of Chicago, Chicago, IL (Sep. 2016 – Present)

- Led Divisional Wiki Project to update Divisional and Departmental documentation.
- Updated and maintained departmental website, including upgrade and overhaul.

Legal Assistant: Leydig, Voit & Mayer, LTD., Chicago, IL (Sep. 2014 – Aug. 2016)

- Assisted in updating the firm's Holiday Card database as part of a transition to paperless.
- Prepared legal documents for patent prosecution and litigation.

Invoice and Asset Administrator: Grant Thornton, LLP, Oakbrook Terrace, IL (Jan. 2013 – Aug. 2014)

- Researched and reconciled invoice discrepancies while preparing invoices for payment.
- Maintained the inventory of leased assets and organized firm-wide transfers of equipment.

Education

Coding Bootcamp Certificate (in progress): Northwestern University, Chicago, IL

Final Project: TBD

Master of Arts in English (May 2013): Clark University, Worcester, IL

Thesis: "Mr. Monster's Imaginarium: Crossing Synaesthetic Boundaries in Gothic Literature"

Bachelor of Arts in English (May 2010): Bradley University, Peoria, IL

Minor in Creative Writing